We were wondering why the government was asking for so much money to get out a few Americans from Vietnam. Now we know that most of it was for the 60,000 Viets that wanted out and are now enroute to the U.S. At first, there was to be 20,000 of them at Eglin Air Force Base, near Ft. Apparently the Alabama Legislature will end the special session without passing the utility bills. They spent a lot of their time and our money to decide they didn't want to pass the bills. 'I don't like the money spending, but there is a big question in my mind about these bills really cutting our electric bills and still allowing the benefits we all expect--plenty of electric power more jobs, etc.

Using the federal budget as a yardstick, major changes have taken place in national priorities in the two decades following the resolution of the Korean War. The budget proposed for Fiscal Year 1976 indicates that during this period the proportion of dollar outlays for human and physical resources has increased from about 29 percent to more than 59 while national defense outlays have declined from 58 percent to about 30 percent. The current 59 percent for human and physical resources covers education and manpower, health, income security, veteran benefits and services, agriculture and rural development, natural resources and environment, commerce and transportation, community develop-

I realize everyone doesn't play tennis, but for now, let's say half the people in town would play if they had the chance. That's 2200 prospective players. If every game is a doubles match, which means there are four participants, and if every match lasts one hour, it would take over 23 days for everyone to play.

Bragg clouted a home-run over the 280-sign in right field. That's with matches going on "24" hours a day!

Let's say the court is used from 8:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m., it would take over 34 days for everyone to play.

I'm not saying that there are 2200 tennis players. I'm simply trying to make people realize the need for more public bases. they get too old for Little League or Babe Ruth.

In the three games, Elba scored 22 runs for a 7.3 average, ate by Mitchell Bragg and Stbut their opponents plated 51 runs to average 17 runs per game, evie Williams. When you ask why Elba's record is so bad, you don't have to search for a reason. In seven games, Elba has given up 89 runs, for an average of over 12 runs per game. However, you can't blame it all on the pitchers. The Tiger defense has committed 41 errors, an average of nearly 6 per game. The Tigers have quite a few games left, and if the players hope to win a few, they must settle down and quit making errors, both mental and actual. The tough part of Elba's schedule is behind them, so if the Tigers can cut down on their mistakes, they still could win five or six games.

KEEP'EM COMING

Two weeks ago, I told all the fishermen in the area to bring Yankees their big catches by THE CLIPPER to have their pictures made. Well, since then, two anglers have brought in a pair of huge Mets bass. However, you don't have to wait until you haul in an Astros 8-pound bass. If you get your limit and have a full stringer of fish, bring 'em by. We'll be proud to take a picture and get a few pointers on your fishing success.

String Art Projects

Students in the Title I mathematics program at the Elba Jr. High School have been working on string art projects. These projects have been useful in getting the students interested in using geometric concepts to develop designs.

Students were required to complete at least two angles using needle, thread and paper. They were then encouraged to combine angles and circles to form designs. A bulletin board of these designs was on display in the already developed.

Students who desired were encouraged to apply the con cepts used on paper to boards ing. Many students were surprised by their ability to create designs or to copy designs
